GMP Studio is a collaborative project established in 2019 through the strategic union of Studio Archi-Land in Alessandria (Gandolfo-Masarin) and Studio Flavio Pollano in Pinerolo. Rather than a formal partnership or corporation, GMP represents an alliance of highly skilled independent professionals who have merged their expertise to deliver an increasingly comprehensive range of integrated technical services.

The core team is composed of Barbara Gandolfo (Architect), Flavio Pollano (Agronomist and Landscape Architect), and Fabrizio Masarin (Professional Forester and Landscape Architect). Each member brings over twenty-five years of experience in private practice. Furthermore, Fabrizio Masarin contributes extensive expertise from his tenure within the Forestry Department of the Piedmont Regional Directorate (Public Works, Soil Protection, Mountain Economy, and Forestry).

The foundation of this cooperation lies in the belief that the synergy of diverse professional backgrounds and sensibilities fosters innovative design ideas. This multidisciplinary approach allows the studio to meet the multifaceted needs of both public and private clients regarding agronomic, forestry, architectural, and landscape design. Leveraging decades of field experience and an ongoing collaboration with emerging professionals serving as Affiliate and Adherent Members, GMP Studio provides high-level technical support in planning, design, implementation, and consultancy.

The alliance maintains its two original offices, strategically located exactly 100 kilometers apart on an east-west axis. Through modern smart-working practices, this distance is seamlessly managed, ensuring that GMP Studio remains active and responsive across the entire Piedmont region and neighboring areas.
